TEACHER'S CLASSROOM MATERIALS

How to Use This Pack

This pack preserves selected classroom records and interface examples connected with KEEP IN MIND. Slide numbers are retained for cross-reference with the Presentation, Procedure, Speaker's Handout and Participant's Book.

Editorial principle: Historical evidence is preserved where it helps explain the project; personal information is anonymised and commercial source audio/texts are not redistributed.

Slide 6 — KIM-1: Pre-Intermediate — Historical Interface

These screenshots document the original word-level navigation. The historical application used NorthStar source material; the public archive does not include the underlying commercial audio or text.

Slide 7 — Four Years of Records

The surviving score sheets document four academic years of KEEP IN MIND use. Student names have been removed for public display. The records show reached word levels, attempts and marks and are presented as historical classroom evidence, not as a controlled research study.

Slide 13 — KIM-3: Grade 4 — Historical Materials

The archival CD-ROM cover and level-selection screen show how the younger-learner version was organised. The activity progressed gradually from very short items to longer utterances. Student images have been anonymised for public display.

Slide 15 — KEEP IN MIND on the Certificate

The original level-selection screen and an anonymised classroom certificate illustrate how KEEP IN MIND was integrated into a broader record of learner achievement. The certificate records KEEP IN MIND alongside quizzes, exams, presentations and story-book reading.

Slide 22 — KEEP IN MIND 2.0 — Updated 2026 Interface

The updated interface uses clear level buttons and one-click audio controls. The first screen provides level selection; the second shows a sample listening screen. The Participant's Book provides the distributable 2026 sentence set.

Archive / Editorial Note

These materials were developed and used in classroom practice and later preserved in the teacher's digital archive. This edition reorganises the evidence for web publication while retaining the original pedagogical purpose.

Editorial and language support: This archival material has been reorganised and language-edited with the assistance of ChatGPT. The classroom practice, historical records and original teaching decisions remain those of the teacher-author.
