A Lesson from a Lost File

On Friday, a group finished a video for a school competition. They kept the only copy on one laptop. Before uploading it, they decided to replace the music, but the laptop stopped working. The deadline passed before the file could be recovered. At first, the students blamed one another. Later, they agreed that no single person had been responsible for making backups. If they had kept another copy, they could have submitted the video on time. For their next project, they assigned clear roles and saved copies in two separate places.

16. Why wasn't the video submitted on time?
    A) The students never finished filming.
    B) The school cancelled the competition.
    C) The laptop failed before the upload.

17. What was risky about their original arrangement?
    A) They had only one copy of the video.
    B) They had assigned too many backup roles.
    C) They had uploaded the video twice.

18. What did the students do at first?
    A) They immediately won a prize.
    B) They blamed one another.
    C) They recovered the file before the deadline.

19. Which regret fits the situation?
    A) They wished they had deleted more files.
    B) They wished they had avoided finishing the video.
    C) They wished they had made a backup.

20. What changed for the next project?
    A) Only one student was allowed to see the work.
    B) Roles were assigned and copies were kept separately.
    C) The group stopped saving any files.
