THE COMMUNITY HISTORY PROJECT

Our history club has been interviewing local residents for a month. We usually meet on Tuesdays, but this week we are preparing an exhibition after school every day. A local bookshop is paying for the display boards. At first, some students were nervous about interviewing adults. They have now got used to asking questions and recording answers. The exhibition will include old photographs and short written memories. Visitors can suggest corrections before the final school booklet is printed. We want the booklet to reflect several voices rather than just one version of the past.

16. Why is the club meeting more often this week?
    A) To prepare an exhibition
    B) To choose a new headteacher
    C) To practise for a sports match

17. How is the bookshop helping?
    A) By paying for display boards B) By interviewing every resident C) By printing free tickets

18. What has become easier for some students?
    A) Travelling by train B) Selling school books C) Interviewing adults

19. Why can visitors suggest corrections?
    A) To select a debate winner
    B) To help make the booklet accurate
    C) To cancel the exhibition

20. What does "several voices" mean in the text?
    A) Louder recordings
    B) Different people's experiences
    C) Songs from several choirs
