Finding a Quieter Route

Last week, İpek walked from the station to a community centre. She first followed the busiest shopping street, but roadworks made the pavement narrow. On her return, a volunteer suggested a route through a park. It was slightly longer, yet much quieter and easier to follow. İpek wrote both routes on a small map for the next meeting. She explained that the shorter route was not always the most comfortable choice, especially when the street was crowded.

16. What made the first route difficult?
    A) The community centre had moved.
    B) The station was closed.
    C) Roadworks narrowed the pavement.

17. Who suggested the park route?
    A) A volunteer B) A train driver C) A shop customer

18. How did the second route compare?
    A) Longer but quieter B) Shorter and noisier C) Exactly the same in every way

19. Why did İpek make a map?
    A) To share both routes for a later meeting
    B) To plan a shopping competition
    C) To show a road that did not exist

20. What did she learn?
    A) Distance is not the only factor in choosing a route.
    B) The shortest route is always the easiest.
    C) Parks should never be used for walking.
